

Critical Mindset for Counter Ambush on Law Enforcement (40-hour training)

You pull up to the scene of a disturbance, and suddenly gunfire erupts and your taking multiple rounds through the windshield of your patrol vehicle. You stop a vehicle for expired tags on the vehicle, and the driver bails out and starts firing multiple rounds at your cruiser as you sit there taking the rounds and glass through the windshield. You stop a subject walking down the road when he bolts for an open between two houses and you lose sight of them rounding the corner only to be met by gunfire as you round the corner. You sit down to have lunch with your partner and relax for a minute when someone walks through the door of the restaurant and starts shooting at you for no reason. You roll up to work a traffic accident that is just a fender bender when out of nowhere you start getting shot at and you don't know where the rounds are coming from. You're driving down the road when the "Officer down, I've been shot" call goes out over the radio, you drive frantically to get to the officer hearing " Central I'm pinned down, and taking multiple rounds in my area get me help" What do you do when you get there? All of these scenarios I've explained are real life and have happened and unfortunately, they are happening weekly all over the country. Can you shoot under stress through your windshield and hit your threat? Can you work and fix and a malfunction on your handgun and rifle in your vehicle under stress? Can you bailout of your vehicle and take the best fighting position you have under gunfire and stress? Can you work your equipment effectively under stress in a foot pursuit under an ambush? Are you capable and fit enough to work your way up to a downed officer and extract them from the hot zone?

If you answered yes to all of those are you sure? Your body can't go where your mind hasn't been and if you're not training for that fight you will not exceed your level of training you will rise too your level of training or you will fall to your level of training. That's what we will be doing in this week-long class is putting you in real world scenarios and teaching you how to fight under stress. We're preparing you for your fight for WHEN it happens. This training isn't for the weak, and if you're a warrior, or you have that warrior mindset then come challenge yourself. We've had SWAT, detectives, patrol officers from 6 months to over 30 years in our training. Ironically, they all same the same thing "This is the best training I've ever attended and this should be mandatory for all law enforcement"

We're taking the first 30 applicants that sign up for this class, you don't want to miss out on this training test your warrior skills or let's start working on them either way you won't be disappointed.... We guarantee that.