

Cameron Ellison has been a police officer since 1989. He has served with two police agencies and has 19 years of experience as a SWAT officer. He has worked in patrol and special assignments, conducting covert and undercover operations and investigations. Cameron is currently the Police Chief of a large private hospital Police Department. He has a bachelor's degree in Law Enforcement Management, is a Graduate of the 248th Session of the FBI National Academy and has won several service awards including four (4) Meritorious Service Awards. Cameron holds several instructor certifications and he is a Force Science Research Analyst.

Lee Adam Lee has served with a suburban Indianapolis fire department since 2009. He is a lieutenant assigned to a ladder company and serves as a paramedic and public safety diver. In 2012, he was sworn in as a tactical medic for a law enforcement agency and is assigned to a SWAT team. Through these positions, Adam has developed a passion for integrating law enforcement, fire/EMS and other public safety resources in their response to critical incidents. Adam has served as a rescue specialist with a FEMA Urban Search and Rescue team since 2014.

Jared Sheets commissioned in the United States Army in 2006 and is currently serving in the National Guard with a background in Combat Arms. Jared joined a suburban Indianapolis police department in 2008 and currently serves in the Patrol Division. Jared is an instructor and operator on the department's tactical team assigned to the entry element as a specialized breacher. Jared has been developing critical incident response models for his public safety agency since 2016 and currently serves as a senior plans officers for the military reserves.